DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. This Office Action is in response to Applicant's Amendment dated December 8, 2004, in response to USPTO Final Office Action dated September 10, 2004.

Claims 2-5, 8, 9, 12-15, 17, 18 and 20-26 are pending in this application. With this amendment claims 2-5, 8, 9, 12-15, 22 and 25-26 are cancelled; claims 1, 6-7, 10-11, 16 and 19 were previously cancelled. Claims 17-18, 20-21 and 23-24 remain pending. The said claim cancellations place the Application in a condition for allowance as indicated herein below.

Examiner's Amendment

2. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

3. Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Applicant's Attorney, Mr. William S. Ramsey, Reg. No. 32,715 in telecon on December 29, 2004

- o On page 5 of Applicant's Amendment:
line 2 of text, in the series of numbers "2-5, 8, 9, 12-15, 25 and 26" please delete and insert the number series ---2-5, 8, 9, 12-15, 22, 25 and 26---
- o On page 5 of Applicant's Amendment:
in the first line following the heading ALLOWABLE SUBJECT MATTER please delete "and 20-24" and replace with ---20-21 and 23-24---

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 17-18, 20-21 and 23-24 are allowed.

5. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Relative to claims 23, the major difference between the teachings of the prior art of record (USP 5,761,485, Munyan; USP 6,694,200, Naim and USP 4,997,374, Simone) and that of the instant invention is that said prior art of record does not teach the process of displaying information in a portable paperless book comprising a visual display system, an audible display system, a digital storage system for visual and audible information, a temporary storage site, and a power system containing a battery for powering the portable paperless book, wherein the visual information is a printed book with words electronically displayed on the visual display for reading and may be electronically erased from the visual display after the words are read, controls for the erasure of the visual display after the words are read, and the audible information is electronically synthesized words of the printed book which are synthesized in synchrony with the words electronically displayed on the visual display, wherein the visible information may be read under constantly changing conditions when the conditions favor visible reading, and the audible information may be listened to under constantly changing conditions when the conditions favor listening to audible information comprising the steps: a. downloading visual and audible information from a digital storage device into the temporary storage site, b. displaying a page of printed words from the temporary storage site on a visual display, and c. displaying audible expression of the words of the page of printed words from the temporary storage site on an audible display, the display of audible material simultaneously with the display of words of the page of printed words.

Regarding claim 24 the major difference between the teachings of the prior said art of record and that of the instant invention is that said prior art of record does not teach a paperless book comprising: a housing, a central processing unit, ROM reader, permanent memory unit, and temporary memory unit mounted within the housing, a visual display, power jack, head-mounted visual display housing jack, audible display housing jack, scroll button, select button, play button, stop or pause button, directional control buttons, volume control dial, brightness control dial, door for inserting ROM, and shoulder strap, mounted on the housing, earphones, connecting wires, and an earphone jack, the earphone jack connected to the audible display Housing jack, a head-mounted visual display, connecting wire, and visual display jack, the visual display jack connected to the head-mounted visual display housing jack, and a battery for powering the paperless book, wherein audible information is electronically synthesized words of the printed book which are synthesized in synchrony with the words electronically displayed on the visual display, wherein the visible information may be read under constantly changing conditions when the conditions favor visible reading, and the audible information may be listened to under constantly changing conditions when the conditions favor listening to audible information.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
